Presentation Outline

Billions of non-dilutive dollars are awarded annually across scientific fields, mainly stemming from the National Institutes of Health, Department of Defense, and other government sources. In 2015 alone, domestic for-profit organizations received about $3 billion from awards ranging from $200k to multi-millions.

In this presentation, Meytal Waiss, FreeMind's Director of Business Development, will provide insight into the non-dilutive funding landscape with an emphasis on the NIH, DOD, and BARDA. Ms. Waiss will describe the various mechanisms and pockets of money available, potential for funding, means to maximize chances for award, and a special funding assistance for Pennsylvania organizations applying for SBIR/STTR grants.
